

Advertisement

freeADWEEK
WEBCAST

Sponsored by CORN.
Naturally

HFCS and Sugar:
The Facts Every Marketer Needs
May 25 | 2PM EDT
Register Now!

CORN.
Naturally

HOMEJOBSEVENTS & APPEARANCES
TALENT GALLERY

SUBSCRIBE TO MAGAZINE
NEWSLETTERS

ADWEEK

Dispatches
From the eG8
Michael Wolff reports
from the internet
summit in Paris

Secret World of Apps
Inside the convoluted
Apple approval
process

Sure Shot
Ron Howard wants
your photos to inspire
a short film

THE PRESS
TELEVISION
TECHNOLOGY
ADVERTISING & BRANDING
ADFREAK VIDEO

Headlines: Press: Ratings Drop for Limbaugh, Han... TV: Oprah Finale Poised for Mammo... Tech: LinkedIn Marketing Costs Are N... Ads & Brands: Mobile Ad Targeting Still A Di...

Ad of the Day: Canon

Ron Howard asks for your photos to inspire a short film

By Noreen O'Leary

May 24 2011

Advertising & Branding

Like

12

Share

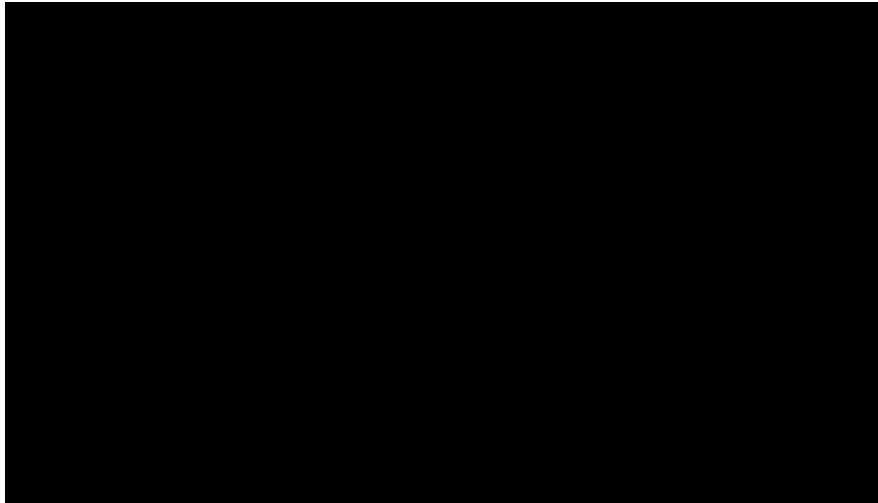

0

Film director Ron Howard supposedly hasn't appeared in a TV ad since he was 18 and has never associated himself strongly with any brand. He's not one of those big-name directors who shoot lucrative commercials on the sly. So, why is he now fronting for Canon? Turns out the Oscar winner is curious about how consumers can help create art, the idea at the center of Canon's new "Project Imagin8ion" initiative, which launched on May 22. The site invites people to submit their photos, of which a handful will be selected to suggest eight film elements—setting, time, character, mood, relationship, goal, obstacle and the unknown. Using the eight images as inspiration, Howard will create a short film that will debut in New York next November, where Howard's photographic muses will meet the director. (In the first two days alone, Canon received more than 9,000 submissions. Consumers have until June 14 to provide images.) The campaign also has a strong social/photo-sharing component that includes YouTube, Flickr, Facebook and Twitter. While the underlying message supports Canon's digital SLR cameras, the execution takes the focus off the marketer and shifts it to user creativity. Not a bad idea to engender that product goodwill in an era where most consumers already carry a phone camera in their pockets.

Advertisement

CREDITS

Client: Canon USA

Agency: Grey, New York

Spot: "Parade"

Chief Creative Officer: Tor Myhren

Executive Creative Directors: Ari Halper, Steve Krauss

Associate Creative Directors: Stu Mair, Eric King

Writer: Kent Koren

Art Director: Elinor Buchler

Logo Design: Craig Ward

Agency Producer: Lauren Tuttman

Agency Music Producer: Zachary Pollakoff

Digital Producer: Kristin Finch, Jen Meeker,

Digital Team: Lando Ettrick, Ron Ceballos, Ornette Coleman, Josh Hearn, Liz Polkinghorne, Thomas Kropp

Account: Rick Cusato, Melinda Hecht, Melanie Rose, Lindsey Christensen, Matt Rakow

Planning: Ian Daly

Business Manager: Lynn Schieder

Talent Manager: Carla Defeo

Alliance: Amy Tunick, Eric Levin, Courtney Jacobs, Jennifer Gothelf

Topics: Ad of The Day, Canon, Grey, Creative, Agency

About the Author

Noreen O'Leary is a staff writer for Adweek. Follow Noreen O'Leary at noreenoleary.

noreenoleary

Ron Howard wants your ideas. <http://bit.ly/IUrNxW>

#Canon

alexia_sophia Sounds like a cool #marketing campaign! ----> #Canon Inks Ron Howard For Photo/Film Effort <http://bit.ly/luyW4s> (via @mediapost)

BhaviksGallery RT @bhavikharia: What's the best #microphone for #Canon EOS 5DMKII?

Related Articles

Ad of the Day: Kraft Macaroni & Cheese
Kids foil their pilfering parents in CP+B's new spots May 13 2011

TBWACHiatDay wins two Grand Prix, in Promo and PR, for Gatorade 'Replay' June 21 2010

Ad of the Day: Bacardi
Rum brand reminds us we're not Neanderthals April 29 2011

Ad of the Day: Hertz
Owen Wilson hits road again in DDB's 'Gas and Brake'... May 05 2011

Comments

Add New Comment

Required: Please login below to comment.

Type your comment here.

Post as ...

News From Atlantic

The Maid's Family Doesn't Want DSK's Money

Sarah Palin's Web Guru Has Some Opinions About Other Republicans

How to Celebrate Bob Dylan's 70th Birthday

Get Ready to Spin the Results of New York-26

Bradley Manning's Story Told Through His Facebook Updates

U.K. Front Pages Are Covered with News Ryan Giggs Tried to Hide

SEE MORE →

From the Talent Gallery

Advertisement

Ads by Google

Google Display Network

Advertise on Content Sites on the Web and Drive Sales

google.com/displaynetwork

Featured Articles

Advertisement

Adweek.com	Affiliates	The Press	Television	Technology	Advertising & Branding
About Us Contributors Subscribe to Magazine Advertising Archive	Billboard Back Stage The Hollywood Reporter	Newspapers Magazines Online	Networks Cable Satellite Video Ratings	Search Social Mobile Telecomm Commerce	Agency Digital Creative Accounts Marketing
©2011 Adweek All Rights Reserved Terms of use Privacy Policy RSS Facebook Twitter Subscribe to Newsletter Site Feedback Contact Us					